PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou all Highest, not by the fiction of sycophants who are seeking and currying favor, but because of Thy divine attributes of omniscience and omnipresence, and Thy greatness and Thy glory, we call upon Thee tonight and, laying before Thee our hearts' desires for this nation and for this people, we pray Thee that Thou wilt grant unto us that Thy eye may rest upon us with gentleness and love; and we beseech Thee that Thou wilt so guide us that we shall be true to ourselves, that as the nations across the waters look with wistful eyes to see whether man is fit to control himself and govern his own self, that he may find here that the embodiment of liberty is not something that is a fiction, but, by Thy grace, something which can be a blessing. And so help us to live that the duty and consistency in our lives may surround us in all our doings here. We ask Thee to let Thy blessing rest upon all bodies like unto this, that they may serve Thy highest and holiest ends in Thy sphere. For Thy great glory and for the good of all men, we ask Thee. Amen.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up for the purpose of amendment, Resolution No. 5, File Folio 1479.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

A Resolution providing for the appointment by the Governor of a commission to be known as the Food Coal and Marketing Commission to make an inventory of the food products and coal of the Commonwealth to investigate the prices thereof and the manner of their distribution authorizing the Commission to investigate the marketing facilities of such food products and coal with a view to a possible reduction in the prices thereof authorizing the commission to appoint a secretary and stenographers and to fix their salaries empowering the commission to issue subpoenas and fixing the penalty for failure to obey such subpoenas authorizing and empowering the said commission to call upon the Attorney General of the Commonwealth to act as its attorney and make a report of its findings and recommendations thereon to the present session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania

Whereas attention has been directed to the high prices of food products and coal prevailing in this Commonwealth with a threatened rise in the price of coal and with no apparent prospects of its early reduction; and

Whereas it is the patriotic duty of our people to direct their efforts toward restoring the cost of living to a normal basis; and

Whereas it is to the interest and welfare of the people of this Commonwealth that the continued high cost of food products and coal be immediately investigated and the causes thereof determined,

Now therefore be it resolved by the House of Representatives (if the Senate concur), That a Commission of nine persons, citizens of this Commonwealth to be known as the Food, Coal and Marketing Commission be appointed by the Governor of this Commonwealth; two of said Commissions shall be members of the present House of Representatives; two shall be members of the present Senate of Pennsylvania, one shall be the Secretary of Agriculture of this Commonwealth, and one shall be a mining expert.

The said Commission shall organize immediately upon its appointment, and elect its officers. The members of the said Commission shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be allowed all actual and necessary expenses in the performance of their duties. The Commission is authorized to appoint a Secretary and one or more stenographers; to fix the salaries of the said appointees, which, together with the expenses of the members of the Commission shall be paid out of the appropriation to be hereafter made for that purpose.

It shall be the duty of the said Commission to make an inventory of all the food products and coal in this Commonwealth and to investigate the prices thereof and the manner of their distribution. It shall have power in any manner in which it may deem advisable to thoroughly investigate the marketing facilities of such food products and coal with a view of obtaining the possible reduction in the prices thereof.

For the purpose of enabling said Commission to carry out the provisions of this act it is authorized to sit in any part of the Commonwealth and shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and other evidence, and for such purposes the Commission may issue subpoenas signed by the President thereof and cause the same to be served in any part of the Commonwealth.

If any witness shall refuse to testify to any fact within his knowledge or to produce any books or papers within his possession or under his control the secretary of the commission shall forthwith report the facts of such refusal to the Court of Common Pleas of the county wherein such witness resides or wherein his or her attendance was required, and all questions arising from such refusal shall at once be heard by said court.

If the court determines that the testimony or other evidence required of such witness is legal and competent then said court shall make an order upon such witness commanding him or her to testify or to produce such books or papers or both as the case may be. If such witness shall thereafter refuse to testify or to produce books or papers as aforesaid then the said court shall have power to order the commitment of such witness to the county jail for contempt.

The Attorney General of the Commonwealth shall be the attorney for the commission and shall advise the commission upon request of any member thereof.

The said Commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations thereon to the present session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. PIKE offered the following resolution, which was read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1919.

Whereas, The Revenue Law of the United States provides for the assessment and collection of a tax upon all articles commercially known as sporting goods, and

Whereas, This tax will of necessity increase the price of such articles and in many instances prevent the purchase thereof by the boys and girls because of insufficient means, and

Whereas, This inability to purchase will have a direct effect upon the health and proper development of the boys and girls of the nation who love to indulge in manly sports, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do respectfully address and petition the Congress of the United States to repeal the provisions of the present Revenue Law of the United States which impose a tax upon articles commercially known as sporting goods:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States, and that a copy thereof be sent to each member of said bodies from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO ADJOURNMENT TO THE MEMORY OF SENATOR STERLING R. CATLIN.

Mr. POWELL offered a resolution, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Resolved, That when the House of Representatives do adjourn this evening, it do so to the memory of Senator Sterling R. Catlin.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House I rise to say a few words in behalf of the gentleman from Luzerne, the late Senator Sterling R. Catlin, the oldest Senator in point of service that there is in the State of Pennsylvania to-day, and the gentlemen who had the pleasure of knowing this man could only speak of him in terms of praise. True, he was rough in his ways like an uncut diamond, but to those who knew him, he was a friend that went to the very end to do what a friend should do. I might say, at this time, that one of the requests of Senator Catlin was that no eulogy should be said in his behalf. Therefore I think in carrying out the wish of the distinguished gentleman that it would not be right for me to extend my remarks any further at this time. However, I can say in closing, that in the death of the distinguished gentleman from Luzerne, the State of Pennsylvania has suffered a loss that will be hard to replace. I am satisfied that whoever will have the privilege looking into the history of the late Senator Catlin will find a record that any legislator would be proud of, and the working men of Pennsylvania have lost a friend and the citizens of Luzerne County have lost a distinguished servant.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 513 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. McCAIG offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

was defeated on Monday, March 17th, be reconsidered for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. GOLDSMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 279.

An Act requiring the publication of all legal notices and legal advertising in the English language only and repealing all acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent therewith was defeated on final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. SHUNK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker announced that the "ayes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and one hundred and eight gentlemen, or more than the constitutional majority of the House having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that there is any member of this House who has any reason for changing his vote from "no" to "aye" on this bill since its discussion on the floor last week. This bill has been thoroughly discussed, pro and con. All the arguments that possibly could have been advanced for the passage of this bill have been advanced, and what could have been advanced against this bill have also been advanced. It is not my purpose to take up the time of this body in lengthy discussion. I have before me, Mr. Speaker, a letter written by a Federal Judge, a Judge of the United States Court, which I will read to this body, and you can then judge whether a bill of the character of the bill now before this House, should be enacted into law. I ask the indulgence of the members of the House while I read this letter.

United States Court,
Pittsburgh, March 22, 1919.

"My Dear Sir: I understand that the bills in reference to foreign newspapers will be before the Legislature for consideration on Monday night. As a citizen of Pennsylvania, and as a Federal judge charged with the administration of espionage, treason and the like, I feel constrained to write you.

"For twenty-seven years my work as a Federal judge has brought me in close relation with the foreign-born people of the State of Pennsylvania. I believe, without egotism, that there is no one in the State of Pennsylvania who has a closer and more intimate knowledge of the foreign-born than I have. On the outbreak of the war I felt it my especial work to avail myself of the knowledge and intimacy I had with the foreign-born and with their newspaper press, to aid the Government in its relations with the million and a half of foreign-born people that we had in the State of Pennsylvania. My first duty bore on the law in reference to naturalized and alien people. That the enclosed Loyalty Leaflet has been circulated by the Government in half a dozen different tongues and to the extent of hundreds of thousands of copies, shows how necessary the foreign tongue was to reach these people. The next step I took was through the foreign language press. I had translations made of their editorials, furnished them to the Government at Washington, made out lists of those papers that were loyal and those which should be carefully watched. As the war went on I was called to Philadelphia to take charge of the Third and Fourth Liberty Loans among the foreign-born people. We organized fourteen races there; twenty-five millions were raised in the Third Liberty Loan, thirty-two in the Fourth, and we are now thoroughly organized for the Fifth Liberty Loan. During all this time I have had the hearty co-operation from the foreign language newspapers, and when in the early stages of the war well meaning people but people who were ignorant of the real patriotism of the foreign-born, sought to forbid the use of the mails to some foreign language papers, I took an earnest part in calling the attention of the Government to this mistaken policy and that the suppression of these newspapers, through which we are reaching the people with personal articles in reference to the Liberty Loan, the Red Cross, the Food Administration and other Government agencies, would be entirely lost if these papers were closed up, and that the foreign population would be turned over to the anarchist and propaganda people, and we would be powerless to reach them. The record of the million and a half of foreign-born people in Pennsylvania, their loyalty, their generous subscription to Liberty bonds, War Savings Stamps, Red Cross and other activities, is one of the finest pictures of patriotism that I know of in any connection with the war. I have in mind where during the Liberty Loans some of these people refused to accept paid advertisements while our English newspapers were being paid for their services in advertising the loans.

"I cannot speak too earnestly on behalf of the foreign-born people in opposing any measure which goes to cripple their usefulness and strike them down. The test of loyalty is not the language a man has on his lips; it is the patriotism he has in his heart. Our public and parochial schools are teaching the children the English language. The foreign language newspapers are so feeling the effects of this that many of them have now columns in English and will eventually be turned into English language publications. We see the same thing in many of our city newspapers, that have a column or so in Italian, to accommodate the increasing number of Italian readers who take the English paper but get something of the home language in it as well.

"I want to say to you as a lawyer, that after the Revolutionary War some States passed statutes which made it a crime for a lawyer to cite in a court of justice a case decided in a British court of justice. Would the misguided men who in their supposed patriotism passed those laws one hundred and thirty years ago, vote in favor of such laws after the excitement of the Revolution passed? We want to take a broad-guage view of this thing. These people have been deeply loyal through the war. I have had the finest inspirations of patriotism coming from them and from the columns of their press, and I want to record my deep, earnest and patriotic protest against the passage of such bills by the Legislature of a State I love and whose great material development is largely based on the work of the foreign-born people.

"You are at liberty to make any use in a public way, of this letter, for I feel it my duty to speak with no uncertain voice on behalf of the million and a half of foreign-born people in the State of Pennsylvania, who have been loyal here at home and whose sons have been on the other side. No man can take a casualty list of the Pennsylvania troops and see those long lists of foreign-born men, and fail to realize their patriotism as it was brought home to me in the naturalization camps where I had the privilege of admitting hundreds of them to full citizenship during the war.

Respectfully yours,
JOS. BUFFINGTON."

Mr. SPEAKER, with this I will close. I do not think it is necessary for me to say another word, and I earnestly hope that the members will bear in mind the contents of this letter and vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, the reason for this bill tonight being reconsidered is something which I think is unfair. The law today gives the sheriff or the county judge the right to publish any legal notices they see fit in the foreign-language newspapers. In other words, it is mandatory. Now if we pass this bill tonight it takes that right away from the sheriff or the judges of the different counties.

Gentlemen, if we were to consider our ancestors, I doubt very much whether there would be many of us who could say that they were Americans through and through. My father is an Italian. I am very proud to say that I had three brothers on the other side, and not one of them waited to be drafted. I still have one there.

In the section I come from we have many different classes of foreigners, and I do not remember one time when they had to be urged by the Americans. They went of their own free will. Now so far as the newspapers are concerned, the Government at Washington has commended time after time the manner in which they handled the Liberty Loans, and gentlemen they are writing today asking the different foreign language newspapers to take charge of the coming loan, the "Victory Loan."

During the war the different departments wrote to the foreign language newspapers in Philadelphia for their support and I am frank to say that after they did write the articles were printed, and the letters sent in in return were amazing.

Mr. Heinz, of the Food Commission at Washington, wrote and ask the Italian and Jewish newspapers in Philadelphia to follow it up closely. Just one instance: The time we were using the substitutes for bread, they had cards sent out. They published them in the foreign languages. That was not sufficient. They called upon the press to follow it up. Long articles were printed day after day explaining just what these substitutes meant and what it would mean to the bakers in case they did not abide by it.

All these things I just bring before you because no doubt many of you are unfamiliar of the fact that the foreign language newspapers of today are increasing instead of decreasing. They are being encouraged by the authorities in Washington, and I do not say that from hearsay. I give that to you right from the shoulder; I give it to you from the authority where I received it, and I ask you gentlemen tonight to consider this before you vote in favor of the bill.

The present bill, understand, does not compel the sheriff or the judge to advertise in the foreign language newspapers. If they find there are a number of Italians in one section and a number of Jewish people in another, they are permitted to advertise in the foreign language newspapers.

In the passage of this bill tonight gentlemen you would eliminate that, and if you would go down and figure what Americanism is, we are just eliminating here the freedom which sure should be left with us. The foreigners can get their newspapers that are printed in their own tongue, from over the seas, but that does not acquaint them with the things going on in this country. The foreign language newspapers of today, print nothing but the current news, with a little here and there of what is going on on the other side. I ask your support gentlemen, in defeating this bill.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I want to say a few words on this bill. I think no more time should be taken by this House in talking of the patriotism of our boys "Over There," but simply to consider the bill. We do not need to make patriotic speeches. Nearly all of us have boys who have been in the service and are patriotic. We do not need to make any patriotic speeches after the patriotism that has been shown by them. Now the question is merely the way legal practice is to be conducted, whether it is to be in the American language, or whether it is to be in half a dozen different foreign languages. Are we to be Americans in Pennsylvania, or are we to have half a dozen languages as they have in Europe, where they cross the border from one country to another? If we go into one district we would have to read in Yiddish, and in another district in Italian, and in another district English. Is that the way we are to enact our laws? The entire point of this bill is to require every legal notice to be printed in English. This is a good thing for us as a Nation. It is the proper thing for us as a State in all our legal proceedings. It is said that it is unfair to have any restrictions placed on the publication of legal notices. I say it is not unfair or unjust to require this, and it is not unfair to ask for a reconsideration of the bill. When the bill was defeated last week, unfortunately forty members happened to be absent at the time it was considered. Now I ask all of you and all of those forty who were not here to vote for this bill, and I hope that those forty are in line to vote for it. To reconsider it now gives every one of the members a chance to go on record and show whether he is for or against this bill.

Now another point raised in reference to this bill is that it has been brought forth by the English-publishing newspapers. It came from me personally, because I was tired of having the notices published in a German newspaper, and I agreed to present this bill. Under the law at the present time the sheriff or other officer can do as he pleases. He can advertise in a German paper or Italian paper if he wants to. I differ from the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Glass) when he says the bill is unfair. After we acted on the bill the other day an attorney from Crawford county said it cost him one hundred and thirty dollars for advertising in a German newspaper. It is simply nothing but a legal holdup, and I say it is absolutely unjust; and I say, gentlemen, the bill should have the unanimous support of every man in this House. If any one is not interested in supporting any such German newspapers, or foreign-tongue newspapers, I can see no argument in not supporting this bill. I ask you to support it, and I do not care to go into a discussion as to the loyalty or patriotism or anything of that sort, for we all know about that.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I was absent when this bill was considered last week. I want to say here that this bill, in my estimation, is an unjust bill, for this reason: In the larger cities throughout this Commonwealth we have a large population of foreign-born citizens. Those people are as loyal American citizens as anyone in this House, and I say we should be fair and just to them. From my experience, in my district, we have a large foreign element more or less, those people have legal business, and they are not able to read the English newspaper, especially the elder people. Should those people be deprived of their rights? I do not think it would be fair. I do not see any harm in any man advertising his business, if he finds it necessary, in a foreign-language newspaper. If that is so, we are only just in giving those people fair consideration, and I ask you to vote against this bill.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GOLDER. I understand you once had difficulties with a German newspaper?

Mr. BOLARD. I did not so state.

Mr. GOLDER. Would you mind stating what you did say?

Mr. BOLARD. I said that some years ago we had a German newspaper in our district, and for that reason one of the old practicioners asked me to present this bill.

Mr. GOLDER. Did that newspaper get any legal advertising?

Mr. BOLARD. Once.

Mr. GOLDER. Do you know as a matter of fact that under the act of 1917 advertising could not be given to such newspaper?

Mr. BOLARD. I was not referring to the act of 1917.

Mr. GOLDER. Will you state under what act that newspaper could have received any legal advertising?

Mr. BOLARD. I cannot refer you to any such situation.

Mr. GOLDER. Isn't it a fact, sir, that this bill refers only to legal advertising?

Mr. BOLARD. Which bill?

Mr. GOLDER. The bill under discussion.

Mr. BOLARD. The main question is the policy of the newspapers.

Mr. GOLDER. It changes the status of these newspapers, the financial status, and takes away from one newspaper dollars and cents, and places them with another newspaper; but the real question is dollars and cents.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I confess that when one hundred and eight votes had been cast in favor of a reconsideration of this bill, I was a bit worried that this House was going to do something that it might be ashamed of; I was just a bit worried; and then I remembered when the American army came to Chateau Thierry and the Germans had been driving forward, and forward, and forward, and as the French army had retreated and the English army had retreated, that when the first detachment of American troops came up a Lieutenant Colonel of the French army came and said to the commanding officer of the American troops: "Stay as long as you can and retreat when you must." The American officer said: "Retreat Hell; we have just started." Just one hundred and eight votes against us on reconsideration, but I believe that those men who wish to think aright are just started. I don't wonder that my friend Mr. Bolard said he did not want to discuss patriotism, and Americanism and loyalty. I don't wonder that any man who would sponsor such a bill would refuse and disclaim any desire to discuss any such principles.

Mr. Bolard said: "I don't wish to take much time." Now let us see how much time this bill has taken. The first time it came out of committee it came out with a negative recommendation. Mr. Bolard moved that the action of the committee be reconsidered and that the bill be placed on the calendar. I voted with Mr. Bolard, feeling that every man is entitled to have a hearing on his bill. It came up again, after full and lengthy discussion, and the bill was defeated. Unfortunately, Mr. Bolard forgot to count noses that time. Tonight he has counted them and perhaps he has enough. Now, gentlemen, I have taken a lot of your time and I ask you to pardon me because I feel very strongly about this bill and I also ask you to pardon me if I speak about myself. The only excuse I can give to you for taking more time is the fact that when the occasion arose, I was willing to give you my time and I served with men of foreign birth, men of foreign parentage, who gave their time and who gave their lives. I did not want to get into any further discussion. I was fair with Mr. Bolard. I went to him before the session and told him and put him on notice that I intended fighting the bill, so that he would be prepared. I wanted to give him notice that there would be a contest on this bill.

Now we were speaking about the patriotism in this bill, and I will ask you to indulge me so that I might refer for a time to an incident that comes from the Bible, unusual, I suppose, but it came about in a strange way. Some nights ago when this bill came up, I was worried and the last man I saw when I left the House was our Chaplain here, and I thought how carefree and easy was the work of our Chaplain, friendly with everybody, no contest, no quarrels. As I lay on my bed that night thinking about the bill, I finally passed away into dreamland, and I found myself in a beautiful land and I walked along, knowing not what was the meaning of the music and the fragrance there. I was stopped by a man in livery, a man who appeared to be a policeman, who asked me where I was going. I looked at him and could give him no excuse or authority, when all at once I came across a card in my pocket, entitled "Department of Police. This is to certify that Honorable Benjamin M. Golder is entitled to the courtesies of the Department as long as his conduct warrants the same." I showed him the piece of cardboard and he let me in. I looked up and before me lay the Golden Stairs and I went up there and I heard a discussion, and lo and behold there was Saint Peter and my friend, Mr. Bolard, holding a discussion, a debate as it were, and the subject of that debate was, "Did God err or was God right when he confused tongues at the Tower of Babel." Saint Peter contended that the Lord knew what he was doing. Bolard said: "The times are different. The Lord made a mistake in those days. We must change it now." And then as they were engaged and in the midst of discussion an array of horsemen came galloping just as quickly as you please and a spokesman stepped forward to Saint Peter and said: "Sir, I come to you as a representative of the English printing press, and we come to you because we are in difficulty. We were reading in the Bible that a good shepherd had ninety and nine sheep, and one of them was lost, and so he left the ninety and nine and went after the other one. In years gone by we had one hundred per cent. of the legal advertising in Pennsylvania, and two years ago a bill was passed which took from us one per cent. of the advertising, and having read in the Bible where the shepherd was commended for leaving the ninety and nine and going in search of the one, we came to seek your assistance." Saint Peter saw the chance of the newspapers in this and he said: "You have it all wrong on this, I think. Some years ago a mighty king of Israel, Ahab by name, had vineyards and wealth galore but there was a little piece of land that he coveted and wanted, a small vineyard that belonged to a man named Nabob, which he could not get fairly, so he raised up false witnesses to swear against the owner of this small vineyard and so he accomplished his purpose and gained it." Gentlemen, I did not realize last week when I spoke that I was striking at the great big, selfish out-stretched hands of the English press of Pennsylvania. The sponsor of this bill has suggested the foundation of the bill. The real thing it can do is to hit the little papers in favor of the big, financial newspapers. What does it do now? It prints a legal notice in a foreign newspaper. Now, can that possibly change the policy of that newspaper? We speak about Bolshevism. By taking out of that newsaper the legal advertising, can you change the policy of that paper? How can that be? You are hitting at that newspaper for the benefit of the English-speaking newspaper.

Now I understand that some expression has gone through the House that this is an administration measure. Will you bear with me a minute while I read what Governor Sproul said about these people? I am quoting from Governor Sproul's Inaugural Address. (Reading)

"Twenty per cent. of foreign immigration comes to Pennsylvania. When we entered the war, people who did not know them looked on this great body of foreign-born people as a menace. Their mistake is now apparent, for we have found in the hearts of the foreign-born an unexpected depth of patriotism, keen appreciation of the principles involved in the war and a great eagerness to take this first opportunity to prove their devotion to their adopted country. Their sons have gone in great numbers into the army and navy. They have organized among themselves and bought Liberty Bonds in surprising amounts, and in mines, mills and factory, they have worked patriotically and faithfully in war industries. As an example of patriotic work they have done throughout the Commonwealth, I may cite the fact that twenty different races organized in Philadelphia and took sixty millions of Third and Fourth Liberty Bonds. We, who are native-born, have been slow to recognize the great patriotic and industrial asset Pennsylvania has in her foreign-born people. Without them, we could not have developed our resources. They have acquired homes, their children fill our public schools, their industry, their thrift, their devotion to American principles, when properly led, unite to make them a great asset in the future of our State. We propose, during this administration, that the State of Pennsylvania shall get into closer touch with its foreign-born, that these people may realize that the State is their friend, that they are a part of it, and that it cherishes them and will protect them from those who would impose upon them or exploit them."

There is the expression of Governor Sproul, the foremost man in this Commonwealth, on a fair deal to the foreign-born citizen. Now if this were a bill that would entirely eliminate the publication of foreign language newspapers, I would say that the arguments advanced that it hits the foreign countries is correct; but it cannot change, it cannot make American the people who would otherwise be un-American by taking printing and advertisements away from foreign language newspapers which advertisements are given, under the direction of the court to these newspapers. You are hitting these people; the one shepherd you are sacrificing for the ninety-and nine. It is a business proposition of dollars and cents. I cannot let this opportunity go by without saying a word on behalf of the millions who have done their share. There are Greek newspapers, Italian newspapers and French newspapers—and let me say to you that while America was sitting by for three and half years these men, these Greeks, Italians and French were fighting our battle over here and then nobody refused to discuss patriotism, when these men, hundreds of thousands of foreign-born became citizens, even after they left our land here. No, that was discussed at that time. We did not refuse to discuss patriotism then, they were faithful enough to go forward into the jaws of Hell and now the newspapers come along and surely you will let me read what some of the newspapers have said about our men. But no, I will not take that time. Let me say that I, among twenty-one other Philadelphians, was accused of being a foreign representative in this House; that men who for reasons of their own, men who because they did not attend meetings of the committee were accused of favoring the Hun because they did not come out and express themselves on this bill. One representative, Mr. Lafferty, received a postal card—and he is only one of twenty-five of thirty-five, saying: "You are a coward; you are afraid of the foreigner. Stand your ground and vote for the Bolard bill." Let me say to you that when these men went forth to battle not to come back, they were not stampeded by newspapers, they did not receive any letters saying, "If you don't do right we will work to rid you out of our organization so you never come back." There is a so-called paper in Philadelphia, a Democratic newspaper in Philadelphia—I find no fault with the Democratic party—but that Democratic paper said that twenty-two Republican representatives from the City of Philadelphia are not coming back to the House next session because they voted against the Bolard bill and this newspaper is going to see that they don't come back. Surely that is blackmailing the men of independent thought and spirit who because they do not vote for a bill that the sponsor himself says only takes a dollar out of their pocket, they are un-American. Let men say what they will and let newspapers say what they will, but let me say, I will not be stampeded by newspapers or turned from my way by any threats, and if my friends don't want to send me here because I have the strength of mind and courage to vote my convictions, because they will not send me here to express without fear the sentiments of fair play and fair treatment to all, then don't send me back because I do not wish to serve in a House where men are stampeded because they are called cowards or what not, or are afraid to do what they think they should do. I do not say men here are doing what they do because they are afraid, but I do say, don't let any threats swerve you from you know to be your path of duty. And I want to say that no threats or anything that the newspapers say, call me a foreigner or Hun or un-American, will stampede me or cause me to vote other than against the Bolard bill.

Mr. MARTIN. This afternoon I had the privilege of a conversation with the gentleman who has just left the floor, Mr. Golder of Philadelphia, and we could not agree on the merits of this bill, and I want to assure the gentlemanman at the outset that there is nothing personal in what I am saying in favor of this bill. I noticed in the public press a statement purporting to have come from Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior. In this statement Secretary Lane said that ten per cent of the American adult population could not read or write the English language. He also, in that same statement, said that eighteen per cent. of the coming citizens of this country are not attending the public schools. He also said in that same statement that ten pen cent. of the first two million soldiers in this country who went to the colors could not read their orders nor understand them. Gentlemen, to me it is perfectly plain that the American nation has been somewhat slow in the teaching of the English language to the foreigners who have come to our shores. I am in favor of this bill for the reason that it does no injustice to the foreigner, and I am here to say, gentlemen, that when a citizen of a foreign country steps on a vessel in his native country and crosses three thousand miles across the water and steps down the gang plank into our country, he has a right and he is under an obligation to learn the English language just as soon as possible. The point has been made in the opposition to this bill that we could not change the policy of these foreign language newspapers. That is true, nor do we care to do that. We merely want to increase the number of them, educationally, as the years go by, so that the coming generations will be able to read practically, the English language. They say we are hitting these newspapers financially. We are. That is one reason why I am going to vote for this bill. We want to hit these papers financially, because I am ready to believe that there are many of these newspapers that will go out of business in the very near future if this financial teat on which they have been sucking for the past few years shall be removed. I ask the gentlement of this House to be in favor of passing this bill.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, I think sufficient time has been wasted in discussing this bill and its merits and demerits, but as an individual and as a citizen of Pennsylvania, and as a member of this House, I want to say that the bill is a most peculiar one, and since it leads to a misconception of its functions, there is an element of doubt as to its righteousness. My friend, who has just sat down, says that a foreigner who steps on board a vessel in some foreign land and comes here should acquire a knowledge of the English language or education in that language. I have not the least doubt that ninety-nine per cent. of the men, women and children who leave Europe are imbued with a fundamental desire to become a good American citizen, and we are not facing it from the theory of politics or advertising. We are facing a stubborn fact that remains as stubborn as a mountain. Prior to the world's war one million emigrants, practically, came from Eastern and Southern Europe; men and women who flew away from religious persecution, from despotism, from autocracy, from caste, from bureauacracy, to come to the United States, God's blessed land, to seek their chance in that opportunity that is guaranteed to the humblest son of the humblest immigrant and to the immigrant himself by the constitution of this land. I have little desire and I know this House has no time to enter into petty squabbles of advertising, legal or otherwise. If there was a bill brought up here to wipe out every foreign paper in the nation, I don't believe that Bennett of Philadelphia would stand for it; and when a bill is brought up here that is doubtful in its functions and that its sponsor is even in doubt about as to what is meant, then I say, it is not a bill that stands on its own feet. My friends, one who has just passed into the shadow, who has been lain into the silent city of the dead and has been quoted as referring to this bill, the great big strong heart, the matchless, peerless American. The great man of this nation, to whom the world has paid homage, whom we revere today, and in whose memory we bow our heads at all times, the champion of liberty, that man, Theodore Roosevelt, has been quoted here as speaking for Americanism, and I question any man from Maine to California, from the rushing waters of the north to the warm waters of the gulf, to find one man in American history who has paid such tribute to the foreign born that have come here for protection, to become assimilated with the people of this great nation and Mr. Roosevelt has said whether that man be a Swede in Wyoming, a Frenchman in Louisiana, an Italian or a Pennsylvania Dutchman, or an Irshman in New York or Massachusetts, no man has paid greater tribute to the sterling worth of millions of men, women and children who have left the old land to come here and whose sons and daughters today are the matchless citizens of this great Commonwealth and this great nation. I ask you a plain, logical question: the world's affairs are in a state of flux; the brightest minds don't know what the next forty-eight hours may bring forth. Europe is in a state of chaos, running riot with blood. I say that unless this land prohibits emigration and checks immigration as it came here before the war five million foreigners, if you please, will come to our shores in a few years, and we must adapt ourselves to present conditions.

I ask you my friends, as sincere Americans that love America, her institutions and her guarantees, that recognize that obligation and dignity and privilege and honor of American citizenship,—because no coronet ever graced a king's crown or a queen's crown that was the equal of American citizenship—I ask you, my friends, how are you going to reach the millions that are already here, and how are you going to reach the millions that are already coming in from the reservoirs of the poverty-stricken, war-devastated, religious-persecuted, oppressed Europe, coming to our shores? And well mark you, I am not speaking of the political end; I have no brief for the foreign language newspapers—I cannot read them—I am not taking any part in the political debate. As to which paper gets the advertising, I care not—but I am speaking of something more fundamental, and from the depths of my heart, and before my Creator, I am sincere. You would take away here what I consider an American freedom—the newspaper. I consider the newspaper the bulwark of liberty in this land. I consider that the newspapers have made this land largely what it is, and I do say here that if Russia had an enlightened newspaper as we have in this land, we would not have chaos as it exists today in Europe. And, my friends, if you are going to shut out, or help directly or indirectly to shut out the legitimate foreign language newspapers—remember I say the legitimate foreign newspaper that is reaching its millions of people throughout this land—I say that you do not know what Americanism means, and if you throw out the foreigner of 40, 45 or 50, that comes to your gates, and which the United States government has done its best to put under a system to trail him, if you turn him loose without being indexed or without knowing whether he has colonized in Philadelphia, in Pittsburgh, in New York or Chicago, you are turning him loose without any influence of school, without any influence of organization, without the influence of any church. You are turning him loose for what? I will tell you. There is one institution in this land, there is one organization in this land, there is one philosophy in this land, that will reach the foreigner here, and of which there is no method of counteracting except by the foreign language newspapers. That institution is an advanced socialism the I. W. W., the Bolsheviki and the anarchist.

You citizens of this great Commonwealth, you great sons of Penn, you great children of Meade, you great men of this great empire and nation, mark you this, there is one institution that reaches the foreigner and takes him by the ear, up the back stairs and through the dark alleys and inoculates him with that poison that says, "Down with America; down with the American flag; spit on her; refuse her citizenship." I ask you, in the name of the Great God of this Commonwealth, what has been done? What has been done by the great organizations of this land, Catholic or Protestant; what has been done by any of the great fraternal societies; what has been done by any of the great churches in the last twenty-five years to help to assimiliate the foreigner that is coming to our land, a foreigner to whom the very uniform of a policeman means despotism? I stand here and can quote from the very best of authorities that we have done nothing to help him. When we pass him through Ellis Island we say to him, "You are due West on the first express from Jersey City," and we know no more about him. That is the cause. What is the effect? The effect is that the federal government today is deporting men from this land, deporting them because they have been inoculated with the vim of Bolshevism, with the poison of I. W. W.-ism, with the dastardly propaganda of socialism, that will drag God out of the universe and tear down the institutions of your fathers.

My friends, I am not speaking in defense of the foreign language newspapers. Now if there is a newspaper in this land, published either in the English or a foreign language, that for one instance is not loyal to all the grand traditions of the newspaper world and to all the grand traditions of our ancestors, that is not true and sincere nor in conformity with all our laws, not only to preserve them and perpetuate them and to make them the one best thing for the one hundred million of men, and the best thing for the race the world over, I say that newspaper ought to be suppressed. If there is a foreign language newspaper not in sympathy with the rights and traditions that our people have loved and do love, I say suppress it. But if you are going to speak of the foreigner with an expression of filth, I want to say to you that it is un-American. If you walk the streets of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh you would see the Polish language, the Italian language, you would see the English language and the French language, "Buy Bonds." They did it and that is Americanism, that showed their desire of American citizenship. That is why they are coming here, and that is why they are here. We, you and I, are responsible for the quality of their citizenship. We are responsible for the quality of their enlightenment, and if our forefathers, who loved and bled and suffered heartbreaks to make this country what it is, if they were to return tonight or to stand in their graves they would look with shame upon us here refusing to take the best care of the foreigners who come to our shores. The policy of the American has always been to help, the policy has always been to take care of people, liberty loving people who come here from the despotism of Europe and find a haven in this land.

There was never a time in the history of the United States when our Americanism was more in test than now. Our Governor, that fearless man, I believe to be trained by temperment, by education, by experience, by brain, by mental qualities and leadership, with that sympathetic touch of man—I believe there is no man in the United States in a better position today than is our own great Governor right here in this State to accomplish this.

He went yesterday or the day before and stood up before a pageant of foreign Americans to show them the way love this land. When you yell "Foreigner" at them, I say you insult them. I ask you men here how many of you, speaking English, at 40, 45 or 50, thrown on the shores of Russia, I ask you how many of you could acquire the Russian language? What knowledge of the French language could you acquire? What knowledge of any other language than English could you acquire at 45 or 50? My friends, there is more in this bill than appears on the surface. I ask you as Pennsylvanians, as Americans citizens.

You come to these American citizens today and say to them "You must not publish legal notices in any but English papers." We have got to have vigorous, robust Americanism which shall not be opposed to American traditions, and not mere pettifogging, saying that this State shall not pay one hundred dollars to a newspaper published in Jewish or Italian. That is not the true basis of ideal of Americanism. That is not the basis of the justice of Americanism, that is not the basis of the justice of our forefathers, to keep alive and purge democracy. That is not democracy, not liberty, not justice. How many who sit in this House who trace your ancestry to foreigners would be ready to say you are not Americans?

My friends, I ask you in the name of the great Penn, in the memory of every man of foreign birth who gave his life for this land to preserve and perpetuate our institutions; I ask you in the name of the great State of Pennsylvania not to disgrace yourselves. This bill is fundamentally a question of dollars and cents. In the name of the great wealth that warms our heart, in the name of the steel that drives terror into the hearts of our enemy; I ask you in the name of the great cause of education, in the name of the great newspapers everywhere; I ask you in the name of the State that contributed more native-born and foreign-born citizens to the cause of democracy; I ask you in the name of our Allies that you stand shoulder to shoulder with them, because you and I who stayed here were as truly there as those who fought and bleed in Flanders; and I ask you, my friends, as citizens, as gentlemen, as colleagues in this House to vote down this bill. I ask you to vote it down in the name of this great State of Penn, and not disgrace the great founder that laid the broad principle of liberty and privilege. The great founder that made this State the greatest State of the Nation. I ask you that the great

State of Penn. will not go on record as being so narrow as to pass an act that next week will be ridiculed from the house-tops.

In this great State, along the highways, down the valley and across the mountain the foreign papers will soon be blazing forth their patriotism and asking all American citizens, of all classes, creeds and countries, to subscribe for the Fifth Liberty Loan, the Victory Loan. I ask you, my friends, without reference to how I vote myself. I come here as a representative. Whether we come here as representatives from Philadelphia, from the coal regions, or from the great Lancaster farming and cattle country, we are Pennsylvanians, Americans first and Pennsylvanians next. As representatives, let us not disgrace ourselves.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I hold in my hand at the present time an editorial clipped from the Philadelphia Inquirer; also a letter directed to me from the Patriotic Order of Sons of America; and also a postal card—the postal card has already been referred to by one of the gentlemen who has preceded me. If it had not been for these criticisms of the members who voted, who had the courage to vote, against this bill last Tuesday, I do not believe that I would have risen to my feet to oppose this bill; for I believe at the present time there have been enough reasons given why the members should vote it down. But when people write anonymous postal cards and make threats like the one I hold in my hand, "You are cowardly men, afraid of foreigners; vote for the Boland bill on Tuesday;" or a letter coming from a society which should be patriotic and should be broad-minded, as Americans should be always, and criticize your action or my action, and tell you that on the following Monday when this bill is reconsidered they are going to watch your vote, and are going to send out broadcast how you voted; and when the editors of the newspapers parade their patriotism against us, and look upon us as holding office merely for the reward in dollars and cents regardless of our duty to our country; when a criticism like this comes doubtless many who have voted against the measure did so thoughtlessly. They can have no such excuse tonight. They must toe the mark.

I say we know the patriotism of the papers; it is measured by dollars and cents. And when that man was writing his editorial he forgot we had members who are working against this bill and voted against it. This House should vote this bill down unanimously without any further discussion. You do not want these papers to say that they scared you. If for no other reason, we should vote this bill down, and I challenge any editor or writer of editorials sitting pleasantly at his desk to dictate to us. I challenge them to point out a body of men with more Americanism or patriotism than the members of this House.

The question is, what is in this bill, what good will come about through it? We should not pass legislation here just for sentiment. This is not a sentimental body. We are not going to be moved, broad-minded men that you are, business men that you are, you are not going to be moved by maudlin sentiment or editorials of newspapers, hollering "patriotism" when the thing is dollars and cents to it. We need to rebuke the newspaper which waves the American flag and then threatens you what it will do if you don't vote for it. That is lack of patriotism. What good does this bill do except it be a sentimental idea at this time? What good does it do? I challenge you to point out, I challenge anybody to point out one iota of good to any American citizen in any part of the State of Pennsylvania or any part of the United States that this bill will do if passed by this House.

Now, since last Tuesday I have taken the pains to look up the different Acts of Assembly relative to advertisement. I find that ever since 1853 there was a special act passed for Union County. That simply provides that publications of a legal character may be published in two or more newspapers in the county. From that on down to 1895 there are a number of acts passed—Union County, Susquehanna County, Lycoming County, Luzerne County, Cumberland County, Clinton County, Cambria County, Allegheny County and Philadelphia County. Most of those acts, gentlemen, excepting those for Allegheny, Philadelphia and Cambria Counties, make no designation whatever of any newspapers, whether it be an English newspaper or a German or any other newspaper. The acts for Allegheny, Philadelphia and Cambria Counties, however, do say that one of the two newspapers shall be a German newspaper. Now then, if this bill was a repealer of those Acts of Assembly which provided that one of the advertisements did not have to be in a German newspaper, I would vote for the bill. I am in favor of leaving it discretionary with the jurisdiction in which the publication is being inserted; and the most of the acts which refers to Philadelphia and Allegheny provides that outside of Philadelphia and counties of over one hundred and fifty thousand population, the advertisements may be published in a German newspaper.

Now, What is the result of this act? Why should not the courts or the bar associations be permitted to pass rules of court providing where those publications should be printed? There is nothing un-American about that. Suppose, for instance, in the City of Chester, in the county from which I come, there is a great Italian population. Suppose I loan money on a mortgage on property in that Italian population or in that Italian settlement. Suppose that Italian fails to pay me the interest or principal when it is due. I issue a scire facias on that mortgage and go into the sheriff's office and have the sale, and it is to my interest to have this sale put before the people who will bid the high dollar for that property. Why should I not have the privilege of asking the sheriff to print the advertisement in an Italian newspaper? Is it because I am an American that I cannot publish that in an Italian newspaper? And yet this bill that we are asked here to vote for says it shall not be printed in anything except the English language. Suppose on the other hand, and perhaps this strikes some of us a little closer, suppose you are appointed master in divorce. I suppose there is no man in this House wants a decree entered against another for divorce without giving the respondent due notice. Suppose that man, we will say, is in Venezuela. You cannot, as master, advertise that in a Venezuela paper where the respondent could get notice because there is nothing printed there except Spanish and that would be illegal under this act. Why should we members of this House, why should we say what paper it is printed in? People residing in the jurisdiction in which the sale or legal notice is desired to be published are better judges, know more about what is the proper notice to give to the litigants than we do, and therefore I say this House has no business.—because the litigant pays the cost, not the city, and not the county, and so we as members of this House have no business to say what paper it is printed in.

Therefore, for all these reasons I say that this is a bad bill and this House should vote it down. If you vote for it now it would look as if those threats from the newspapers and from these letters had driven you to change your vote.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Crawford (Mr. Boland) will proceed.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman this question: The postal card which you just referred to, I believe you referred to as a anonymous matter, did you not?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, why then was it brought up in the House if known to be anonymous, if not wanted to help your cause? It certainly would help your cause. Who did it come from?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, not having any name to it, the man not having signed his name, I cannot tell.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, was it not presented in the hope that it would perhaps help your cause before this House?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I presented it to show the tactics of the people who are opposing this bill.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, that is all. I submit, gentlemen of the House, that there is nothing before us to show that that was not put in by the opposition to this bill, and the fact that it has been presented by two opponents of this bill is the best evidence that the postal card is a thing that has been set up by the opponents of this bill to make you think that I am the citizen or someone working with me that sent it out as a piece of blackmail.

But it is not so. The only time that it got before the House is when it was brought out by two of the opponents of this bill.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, it is not my desire to cut off debate on this matter, but I think we are all here and all ready to vote, and I therefore move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. I think all have spoken who desires to speak, and we will proceed with the roll call.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION AUTHORIZING SPEAKER TO APPOINT A COMMITTEE TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF THE LATE SENATOR STERLING R. CATLIN.

Mr. POWELL asked and received unanimous consent to offer the following motion which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Moved by Mr. Powell of Luzerne, seconded by Mr. Dawson of Lackawanaa, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives be authorized to appoint a committee of twenty-five members of the House to attend the funeral of the late Senator from Luzerne, Hon. Sterling R. Catlin, to be held at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Wednesday, March 26, 1919.

MOTION TO RECOMMITT BILL.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE offered the following motion:

Moved by Mr. Robert L. Wallace, seconded by Mr. Showalter, that House Bill No. 949, file folio 1699, entitled

An Act to amend and to repeal certain sections of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An Act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto" on page 14 of today's calendar, bills on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILLSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: I object to this bill being recommitted. It is simple and plain and everyone in the House understands it, and I do not see why the gentleman from Lawrence asks that the bill be recommitted. I would like to know on what grounds he asks to have it recommitted for a hearing.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman object to the consideration of the motion at this time?

Mr. WILLSON. Mr. Speaker, I do.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has to rule that the gentleman from Allegheny is entirely in order. The order of business on motions to recommit have been passed. The only way the gentleman from Lawrence could have the motion considered at this time is by unanimous consent, and unanimous consent has been refused.

Mr. ROBERT L. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I thought we were still on that order of business. I withdraw the motion for the present.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 606, file folio 1137, on page 3 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Marcus,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 606, entitled

An Act to amend an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand fifty-nine) entitled "An Act extending the powers of judges of courts of quarter sessions and of oyer and terminer in relation to releasing prisoners in jails and workhouses on parole" providing for the parole of persons committed to State Penitentiaries reformatories reform and Industrial schools

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would just ask the sponsor of this bill to explain the purpose of it, so that my friends on the other side of the House may be able to know just what they are voting on, and why we should have some more laws put on the statute books for the purpose of relieving criminals who have already been sentenced.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of explaining the object of this bill, and also to enlighten the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson), who has given you a false impression by stating that if you vote for this bill you vote for a bill that has for its purpose the releasing of criminals, I desire to state to this House that the courts now only have the power of parole in cases of prisoners confined in the Allegheny County jail or other penal institutions and workhouses. The purpose of this bill is to give the courts the power and the right of parole in institutions such as reformatories or penitentiaries. It is merely the means of increasing the power or authority that the courts now have.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I have, of course, regret, that I feel constrained to rise against a bill that comes from one of my colleagues from Allegheny County. But it certainly seems to me that we are passing entirely too many acts for the sole and express purpose of relieving men who have violated the penal code of the State of Pennsylvania. I have about arrived at the conclusion that the best possible way to eliminate crime is to punish the criminal, and until we do that, I do not believe we will ever be very successful in the State of Pennsylvania in coping with the crimes that are committed in every district of this State. They are committed daily and nightly and hourly. The men are brought into our criminal courts, and the time of the courts is spent, day in and day out, month in and month out, until Allegheny County today is compelled to bring in from two to three judges every day of the year, for the purpose of helping them try their criminal calendar, and after they have been tried, there are a hundred different ways by which these men are brought up and sentence suspended. If sentence is not suspended, the judges are treated with, petitioned to, cajoled and coerced, for the sole and express purpose of paroling the prisoner and giving them another chance, until Allegheny County to-day is full of paroled prisoners, out under the jurisdiction of the probation officers, ready to go abroad and do just exactly what they had been doing, for which they should have been committed. And now we have an act authorizing the courts to take away from the prison boards the rights that they have. The prison boards in every penitentiary have the right now, after a person, or after a man or woman, that has been sentenced, has served a sufficient time, under the rule of good behavior they are allowed now to parole, until our criminal courts in this State have become an absolute farce, for the sole and express purpose of taking the money away from the tax-payers and letting the criminal go free, until it is common talk in Allegheny County that there is absolutely no use in taking shoplifters into the criminal courts and wasting your time and your money, for the express purpose of having them paroled after you have taken the time to convict them. And I say to you that the sooner we come to the conclusion that the proper way to eliminate crime is to punish the criminal, the sooner we will do away with a great many of the crimes now being committed. I say to you that any man or woman that has put himself or herself inside of the penal code has a right to suffer the penalty that a just jury has seen fit to convict him of and that a wise and discreet Court has seen fit to sentence him for. Instead of us passing acts for the purpose of encouraging this, let us pass a few acts for the purpose of doing away with crime. Let us punish the criminal so that instead of his going out for the purpose of committing other crimes, he will hesitate before he violates our statutes and places you and me in the position probably where we will have to defnd our homes. I ask you to vote this bill down.

Mr. MARCUS. It is questionable in my mind if the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson) has even read the bill, for surely he could not make such statements on the floor of this House that the main object of this bill is to encourage criminals and make it a harvest for criminals brought before our courts. The Act of 1911 gives our courts the right to parole. It is the purpose and intention of this bill to give our courts the right to review these cases. This act merely amends the act of 1911 for the purpose of giving other courts the right to have full jurisdiction. In other words, permit me to give you a concrete case. If our local court sentences a man to a reformatory such as Morganza or Huntingdon, and after the passes out of the hands of the courts, that practically compels every young man who wishes to apply for a parole to wait thirteen months. I say the court that originally sentenced the man should finally dispose of the case. It is not the object of this bill to create criminals, and I would suggest to the gentlemen who has spoken against this bill to at least read the bill and become acquainted with the particulars of the bill before criticizing it.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SIMPSON. May I read the amendment? It reads, "or in any State penitentiary or any person by such court confined in a reformatory or reform or industrial school." Is that meant for the purpose of paroling that man?

Mr. MARCUS. That is meant for the purpose of giving the court which has sentenced that man final authority to pass on the parole.

Mr. SIMPSON. I asked you if that is meant for the purpose of paroling that man after he has been sentenced?

Mr. MARCUS. It is.

Mr. SIMPSON. And do you want the House now to understand that the court after sentencing that man is in a better position to understand that man's condition than the people at Huntingdon, or Morganza or at the penitentiary know, and the court that sentenced him?

Mr. MARCUS. I say, yes, and that the court can have power to investigate.

Mr. SIMPSON. And would you take the power from the superintendent at Morganza and place that discretionary power in the courts?

Mr. MARCUS. I would, for the reason that the courts have authority to parole upon such investigation as they would actually have.

Mr. SIMPSON. And you would take that power from the superintendent of the Western Penitentiary and put it in the courts?

Mr. MARCUS. I would.

Mr. SIMPSON. And you would take that power from the superintendent at Huntingdon and put it in the hands of the courts?

Mr. MARCUS. I would, for the reason that I think the court is the proper place to have it investigated.

Mr. SIMPSON. In a better position to act than the superintendent of these institutions?

Mr. MARCUS. Equally as good, if not better.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I differ somewhat from the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson) because I have always been in favor of the parole act. I do not think however, that the parole act should be extended to the review of schools or industrial schools. A young man or a young girl is heard before the court and is sentenced to a reform school to be disciplined. I think few courts interfere with cases that have been sent to reform schools, I think, on the other hand it would be very detrimental to the discipline of these reform-schools if the courts that sentenced them to the reform schools were to interfere with that discipline and have them removed or taken home on parole. Therefore, it seems to me that this bill should be defeated because of the fact that it does extend to reform and industrial schools.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BOLARD. Would not this bill as drawn permit of another judge than the one who tried the criminal, in a case of manslaughter, for instance, would this not permit another judge in the same district, or any other judge sitting there, to hear it, and release that criminal from a long term of years?

Mr. MARCUS. I would say it would after it had been reviewed by the court sentencing the criminal.

Mr. BOLARD. Would not this bill permit that?

Mr. MARCUS. I have no reason to doubt it.

Mr. BOLARD. Would that not simply take it out of the hands of the board of pardons?

Mr. MARCUS. I would say from the contents of the act that the person would have the option of appearing before the Board of Pardons or before the court.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, it appears that this bill praactically takes it out of the hands of the Board of Paroons. Here we have an act that has provided for the smaller offenses which have been turned over to the probation officer, largely minor offenses and children. This bill as amended should be defeated by all means.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who are the way, the truth and the life, grant we beseech Thee that Thou wilt take the thoughts of these men and make them to express Thy thought, using their will so it shall flow into Thy will, that they may become through Thee a contributing cause to Thy great and divine consumation, to which the whole creation is moving and must move, because Thou hast ordained it so. Whatever in them is low, raise, we pray Thee, and support; whatever is dark and cloudy, grant that it may become illumined and clarified. May they take time, circumstance and place, and conscientiously use them so that they shall weave a part of the great tapestry of time, that shall show them a perfect picture and work.

Bless Thou them, and may they find their joy in service, though they are not sympathized with; may duty be strong enough to sustain them, though they are not applauded. May they find enough satisfaction in truth and justice that they shall be able if necessary, to spurn honor itself. And thus, Thou great Leader, lead Thou them in the pathway that makes for patience, for peace and for satisfaction. Amen.

Mallery,	McVicar,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmitive, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, I will rise to a question of personal privilege to make a protest. I very much dislike to do this, but on the first bill passed this morning, House Bill No. 764, I voted negatively and was not recorded at all. On the bill which has just been passed, House Bill No. 680, to my certain knowledge three gentlemen voted negatively and only two were so recorded.

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman will send his protest in writing to the desk, the corrections will be made and the gentleman's vote will be recorded as he voted.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 182, File Folio 991, bills on third reading postponed, on page 7 of to-day's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Rinn,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 182, entitled

An Act requiring employers to permit all employes to have a leave of abense of two hours on election without any deduction in wages.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Bill on Third Reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege for me to rise and endorse this measure which is before the House. The author of this bill is one of the old members on this floor and one of the most active members in legislation since he has been a member. There never has been a good measure before this House which the gentleman from Lehigh did not support and did not work for. His heart goes out to all the workingmen in Pennsylvania to see to it that they shall have a right to exercise their suffrage on election day, and that is why he has introduced this measure. It hardly needs arguments. It is something which has been passed in the State of New York and in other states and we ought to give it a chance so that we may have a general expression on election day at the polls and so that men cannot make use of the argument that they were not allowed to go away from their work to vote. There is no argument against this bill. I think this House, out of respect to this gentleman, will support it as they know he would not introduce anything but meritorious measure on this floor and they should vote "aye" unanimously. Let him who votes "No" be consigned to oblivion for the rest of this session.

Mr. ARON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Rinn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ARON. I really do not want to interrogate the gentleman, but I would like to have him explain the bill.

Mr. RINN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. This is the same bill that was passed by this branch of the Legislature two years ago by a vote of 158 in favor and 14 against. In the Senate, the vote was 22 in favor and 14 against the measure. We had no time to have it reconsidered in the Senate. All that this bill provides for is that it gives every workingman an opportunity to cast his ballot on election day; that is all there is to this bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. RINN. I rise, Mr. Speaker, on a question of special privilege. I wish to thank the members of this House for the confidence they have reposed in this bill, and I am sure that when they go back home to the people of their districts, they will be commended by their constituents for their present action.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 198 on the third reading postponed calendar, page 7 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar by Mr. Bowman.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 198, entitled

An Act relating to petitions for laying out certain public roads and to reports of viewers thereon

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I am persuaded that the bill that is presented to us for consideration has, in the particular case which the promoter has in mind, a very great deal of merit. If the bill went no farther than to supply the needs of the conditions under which his constituents are existing I certainly would have no opposition to the bill; but we are very fearful that if his needs are supplied it will mean the establishment of a condition which is very detrimental to the public generally and which would open the way to a condition which would permit people, if so minded, to take advantage of other people in the same community. Under the existing law a road to be laid out is required to begin on a public road and end on a public road; that is, that it must have an inlet and an outlet. Any proceeding looking towards the laying out of a road which does not begin on a public road and end on a public road will fail because it is in direct violation of the law. The bill before us seeks to annul that condition of road law and permit a road to be laid out which begins on a public road and ends without reaching another public road,—that it may stop at a private house or that it may simply go into a piece of land that is remote from the public road. If this bill were to be enacted into law, a person might be able to buy a piece of land that is some distance from a public road at a very reduced price and, through a petition to the court, be enabled to have a public road laid out leading to his piece of land and thus bring it to the front and very much enhance its value. A person who desires to build for himself a summer resort up some valley or at some remote place could do so and then by legal proceeding have established a public road from the main highway to his resort, and the county would be compelled in this case to maintain this road for the benefit of this individual. I have in mind a particular case where persons have expended several thousand dollars in the construction of a private road leading to their place of business. They would be very glad, indeed, if this bill was passed because it would enable them to make a public road of the road, on which they have already expended a great deal of money, and make it a charge upon the county.

I do not mean to opose any bill which is looking to the interest of the people of our Commonwealth if that interest is of a general character, but when it opens the way for an individual person to take advantage of the general public, I feel that it is a measure we should not allow to be placed upon our statute books. There may be many persons who would use the law and use it discreetly and use it to advantage, but as long as the law is there, it is open to the use of indiscreet and indiscriminate persons who would take advantage of the conditions and impose upon the public an expense which does not justly belong to them, and which does not benefit the public generally. I think, therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that this bill should be voted down.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I fail to see anything vicious in this bill. We have taken it up carefully with the Highway Commissioner and also with the Attorney General who has agreed with us that there is nothing vicious in it. Many counties in the State have roads with conditions just of this nature. The one in particular that I have in mind now is a township in Cumberland county that is very thickly populated. Streets are laid out and on account of the railroad running on the east side of the town and the Susquehanna river being just below the railroad, it is impossible for them to construct a road east of these railroad tracks and the natural barrier of the river.

Under the method of establishing public roads, the people petition the court and the court appoints viewers, the matter is advertised in the particular district affected, and after a hearing it is reported back to the court which decides whether a road is really necessary or not. There is nothing in this bill that interferes with that procedure. You will find in many counties, Dauphin county, and various other counties, conditions of this kind. The streets are built up solidly to the street's ends. The people pay hundreds of dollars of taxes into the township in this case. Almost one-third of the taxes paid in the township in question are paid by the people residing in the particular district affected, and they have absolutely no relief. Their road is in almost impassable condition most of the year around and now they ask, through a law of this kind, that the supervisors be given the right to expend a portion of the taxes in repairing and maintaining this road or street. It is true this road begins on a public road but does not end on one because it is and always will be impossible to have it end on public road inasmuch as the main line of railway company and the Susquehanna river are on the east side and there is no place there to construct a public road to connect.

As I said before, there is nothing vicious in this bill and I hope the gentlemen of the House will cast a favorable vote for it.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I want to give one illustration why I say that this is a good measure. The gentleman who has just spoken was right when he said that under the present law you must indicate the point on public highway that your road begins and what point on the public highway it ends. This is a bill to provide for highways upon which the residents of the State live that cannot have a public highway under the present law. I have in mind one in our own county, a quarter of a mile long, ending up against the graded bank of a railway, which is used by the public now as a highway. On either side, in the quarter of a mile, there are a dozen of families, all of whom are entitled to some remedy by legislation that they may have an outlet. You might say, "Why not have a subway under that railroad? There is no necessity for a subway under it. There is nothing beyond it except the Susquehanna River, and there is no necessity for a bridge crossing. It is but a quarter of a mile long, and the dozen of families living on it are tax-payers and own their own property, but this public road leads up against that railroad. Are we going to deny the people the right to have a public road? They cannot have it under the present law. This bill provides for cases of that kind when the tax-payers are penned in. They are people who own their property and have improved it. I know of one place of the same kind that has two public buildings on it. These people are good tax-payers and citizens, and I say that we should provide a remedy for them that they do not now have. I consider it a very good messure.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman who has just preceded me, when he says that these people who are living off from the public road have no means of supplying their needs in the way of a road, I wish to advise the gentleman, and no doubt he well knows, I presume, that the present law does provide a means for these people, but it requires that they purchase their right-of-way.

If they buy their land at a place not on a public road, they have purchased that land at a lesser price than if it were on a public road. Now then for the tax-payers of that county to enhance the value of their land by building and maintaining a public road, is not justice to the rest of the people. All they have to do is to petition to the court to lay out a private road and show that it is needed, and the court is compelled to appoint viewers and the viewers are compelled to lay out the road and supply their needs.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I might say that I have had some experience on that question of private roads, and it is a most annoying thing for the court to deal with. This little measure here provides a remedy where these people may have public roads, a long-felt want to many and many families who pay high taxes towards keeping up public roads, but who cannot use their taxes to keep up their own road. You ask him to go before the court under the present law, which we can do, and ask to have it set aside as a private road—yes—keep it up—yes—but pay your taxes toward keeping up some other man's road. That is not proper. That is the history of the private road. They are a troublesome road. The only thing that ought to be done with the private road act is to repeal it.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 823, entitled

An Act making incurable insanity a cause for divorce and providing procedure in such cases

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, in the first section of this proposed act it says, "it shall be lawful for the courts of common pleas to grant a divorce from the bonds of matrimony to any libellant whose husband or wife is suffering with incurable insanity." Who shall decide who is an incurable?

Mr. SIMPSON. The only possible way to decide as to insanity is by a commission appointed by the court.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Will the gentleman please repeat his answer?

Mr. SIMPSON. The only possible way to decide is by a commission appointed by the court of common pleas.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Isn't it a fact that doctors and commissioners have pronounced people incurable and afterwards they were returned to health again?

Mr. SIMPSON. Not as a general proposition. I think statistics show that where they are committed after a commission has once been appointed and report made to the court of common pleas there is not quite two per cent. of them returned from the institutions. These are the statistics from the institutions of the State.

Mr. PHILLIPS. I would like to further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Does this act cover a special case in your county?

Mr. SIMPSON. Oh, no.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Do you think it is right to allow the courts to interfere with the sacred bonds of matrimony in a case that is incurable, as you call it?

Mr. SIMPSON. It is right for the court for many reasons. In the first place, if a person is married to an insane person and before that party becomes insane they are blessed with children and the man holding the property would die before the woman or vice versa, which ever one of them may become insane, or which ever one held the property, then, of course, the property would be tied up for an indefinite period, and to the great detriment of the children of that particular party.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PALMER. Will the gentleman repeat what his answer was in the case of a man dying?

Mr. SIMPSON. In case a man dies, the wife being insane, and they having first been blessed with children, and having property in the name of the husband, the property would be held up for an indefinite time to the detriment of the children.

Mr. PALMER. How would a man need a divorce after he is dead? Why should a man need a divorce after he died?

Mr. SIMPSON. The act has never contemplated anything of the kind.

Mr. PALMER. Could not a man by his last will and testament take care of provide for that situation?

Mr. SIMPSON. If there is an act of Assembly on the books—and that is the only reason we have wills—that makes provision whereby a man can devise to his wife the entire amount of her property, or the entire amount of the property that she would necessarily come into on his death, I have been unable as yet to find it.

Mr. PALMER. I am not opposed to divorces where the petitioner is an innocent and injured party; where the respondent in the case has done some malicious or willful act which is enumerated in the grounds for divorce as they now exist in Pennsylvania, but for a man to put away a woman or a woman to put away a man because he or she has been inflicted with a serious mental illness which is absolutely beyond his or her control, which is inflicted, as it were, by God Almighty, seems to me to be the most outrageous thing imaginable. It is said that, "Those whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder." It has been modified where one is malicious and is unlawfully or willfully not true to the marriage bond, but to divorce a person on the ground of insanity is like condemning a man for murder for those acts which he might do in the delirium of typhoid fever. It is not a question of property rights; there is a higher, a larger, a more humane question involved. If the property rights were the only questions involved, we might say, Amen, but a higher moral question is at issue before this House. The whole argument may be summed up in what I have said: It is not the right thing to do; it is in violation of that solemn promise which you make and you are punishing one who has nothing at all to do with the act, but it has been an infliction by some unknown cause. The right kind of a man would not take advantage of the act and the wrong kind of a man—we don't want to give him the opportunity to do it.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I have no particular interest in this bill—that is, no personal interest. The only reason in the world for presenting it was because I thought it one of the things that ought to be incorporated in our divorce procedure. If we go back over our divorce courts we will find that the only possible way to get a divorce is by an act of assembly. Prior to the passage of the acts of assembly on this question there was no possible way to get a divorce and the acts of assembly made certain specific things ground for a divorce. One of those specific things is that of desertion. There are others but I cite that in particular. Can you think of anything more that would be a better ground for a divorce than a woman being deserted from a man or a man being deserted from a woman by reason of incurable insanity. We have on the statute books today as a ground for a divorce what is knows as desertion. Is it possible to think of anything that would create a wider desertion, a more complete desertion, than that of incurable insanity. I say to you now that which is the means today of injury is not by tying up a little bit of property, but hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property in the state of Pennsylvania. Men who are confined in institutions who will never come out and women who are confined in institutions who will never be released, and that property is tied up to the detriment of their children because every one of them under our present laws are compelled to have a commission appointed and that commission goes to the court of common pleas in their report that that person is no longer a person sui juris, and that person is no longer fit to live either with a man or woman but in order that society might be protected, it is absolutely necessary to divorce them and they divorce them from themselves and take one or the other away to one of our state institutions for the sole and express purpose of keeping them away from society, and for the sole and express purpose of looking after their interests. If there was a possibility of that person coming out of that institution they could not possibly get a divorce, because this act of assembly says it must be "incurable insanity" an insanity which has taken them away from each other; that has taken her or him away from society and placed them in an institution for their own good, and that is why I ask that this act of assembly be passed. It is simply adding another ground to what we already have for divorcement. If my good friend on the other side of the House will look up Deuteronomy, and apply it, instead of quoting what he did, "That which God hath joined together let no man put asunder," he will see that which says to give him a bill of divorcement, that is just as applicable here as it is in any act of assembly that we have on the books. I say to you, that it would not be the bad man that would take advantage of this, but the man who knows that he has lost his life's partner; the man that knows that the woman he loved and would die for at any time and that had born him children and is now away from him forever and that he now has got to look after their children, her children and his children, and in order that he may look after them properly it is necessary for him to apply to the courts in order that he may get that which he has already been deprived of in order that he might be placed in a position to restore that which has been taken away from him. That is the reason why I think that this act of assembly ought to be put on the statute books of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Simpson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. BALDRIGE. When you stated that thousands of dollars worth of property will be tied up—in what way will it be tied up?

Mr. SIMPSON. I said it has been tied up.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Will you state in what way?

Mr. SIMPSON. When one of the two contracting parties has been committed to an institution for the care of the insane and the other party dies, that portion of the estate that comes to her or him under our interstate laws cannot be divested from him or her and remains in that state until the other party dies and a commission is invariably appointed by the Court of Common Pleas for the purpose of taking care of that property and administering it.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Is it not a fact that they can have a committee appointed to take care of such cases?

Mr. SIMPSON. There are thousands already appointed and do take care of that and they pay from $2.50 to $5.50 into the Auditor General's office and from there it passes into the State Treasury for the purpose of taking care of that insane person.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Simpson, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SIMPSON. Why not one at a time—yes, sir?

Mr. STERLING. Does the gentleman from Allegheny know that during this session the Senate passed a bill, which was also passed in this House, covering the same question, which was vetoed by the Governor?

Mr. SIMPSON. No, sir, I did not know that.

Mr. STERLING. That is the case, and I think we are wasting a lot of time in the discussion of this bill.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, the bill vetoed by the Governor, that bill validated divorces which had been granted some time prior. Those divorces were not valid at the time, which was the reason the Governor assigned for the veto. I am for this bill because I cannot see, purely as a matter of sentiment, how a person, man or woman, hopelessly and incurably insane, can be hurt either morally, physically or financially, by separation. If the husband is incurable, how can she be injured, or hurt if she is separated by law from her husband? I know of an instance in Philadelphia, a young woman thirty-two years of age with two children, one nine and another seven years of age, whose husband has been in an insane institution for about six years. She cannot get a divorce from him and she cannot remarry, and she must take care of her husband in an insane institution and take care of her children. This illustrates an instance which would be covered by this act and that is why I don't think that the Governor would veto this bill.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, I consider this a vicious piece of legislation. There is no such term defined by law as incurable. Some of the most brilliant doctors, some of the most brilliant surgeons, some of the most brilliant specialists in mind and in body have declared men and women incurable, and have sent them to institutions and they have afterwards returned to normal life and functioned mentally and physically properly. We are here and going to pass a piece of legislation that allows to be done what has been done before in history, have a man take advantage by putting away his wife in an institution that she may be turned loose from ten years after securing a divorce. I have no doubt of the sincerity of my friend from Allegheny (Mr. Simpson) but I do believe that there is a loop-hole here where the vicious, the mentally perverted would take exception and advantage of and I do hope, my friends and members of this House, that you will go on record as a moral body, fearing that one case alone of injustice may be done, knowing in your hearts, as you must know, that no man or set of men, or commission, is capable of defining what is incurable. I have known men that have been told they did not have thirteen weeks to live, and that is thirteen years ago, and they are still alive. This is a mighty dangerous proposition, and I hope you will vote it down.

PRESENTATION OF TOKEN TO MR. W. HARRY BAKER, SECRETARY OF THE SENATE.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, at the request of the employees of the Senate Transcribing Room, I present to our Secretary this beautiful basket of roses. I refer to our friend, Mr. Baker. Why I should have been selected to make this presentation I do not know, surrounded as we are by a body of men in this Senate, who in truthfulness are in the class with George Washington, in wisdom the equal of Abraham Lincoln, and in statesmanship as proficient as President Wilson. Why I should be called upon to make this presentation I do not know, but yet I consider it a signal honor to make this little speech at this time, because of the caliber, the character and the qualities of the man to whom this token is presented. Its financial value is large to those who made it, but small to Mr. Baker. Its intrinsic worth is but little, but I know that when he takes it to his home to-night that it will mean much to him and will bring back many pleasant recollections of his life's history. Each one of those roses, and for his sake I will not at this time mention their number, because like the ladies of the present day he may not care for the public generally to know that he has been with all of us people so many years, but each one represents a milestone in his life; and as they in their beauty stand on that platform they are not properly arranged, because each one, starting from the rose of his infancy to the rose of to-day, should have been larger and more fragrant, because every day in his life, particularly from the day when he was a page boy in this Senate, has been a better year, a greater year and a grander year for Pennsylvania. Thirty-two years, I believe, if I am correct, he has devoted his life's work and industry for the benefit of the Senate of Pennsylvania and the citizens thereof, and every one of those thirty-two years has been a better year until he is here to-day the most valuable man that this state has ever had in its employ, the most genial man that any man who has had the honor of being a member of this Senate and has had occasion to come in contact with him, and in addition to that, he certainly must be a most devoted, and interested man, not only to the Senators, but to those who come either directly or indirectly under his employ. It must of course be a great honor, a great credit and a great satisfaction to any man to know that those who surround him, no matter what his business career or calling may be, had the consideration to remember him on an occasion such as this and to have the good will and good wishes not only of the employees of this Senate, but every Senator and every man in Pennsylvania who has had the honor and privilege of having any business or other dealings with him, and, Mr. Baker, on behalf of these employees at this time, I present you with this bouquet.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. President, Senators and employees: I wish I had the ability to express my thoughts at the present time, but you all know me well enough to understand that I am not much of a speechmaker. I want to say to you that I appreciate the many kind thoughts expressed by Senator Salus, and I extend my thanks to the employees in the Transcribing Room for this beautiful bouquet of flowers. I sincerely hope that in the future our friendship will be still greater than it has been in the past.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou Rock of Ages, who hast been ever the solace of all mankind, and declared Thyself to be the Eternal Cornerstone on which all good can be built, we beseech Thee that we may indeed sink all our hope in Thee, and that our grasp and purpose in life may entirely go out according to the lines that Thou has dictated, and that we may aspire to things great and good and beautiful, because we have built on the eternal verities that Thou Thyself hast declared. Grant, we beseech Thee, that this State may not be merely a geographical description or a matter of miles or of population, but that it may lie in sentiments and in ideals, and that it may be something more than just the poor material things pandering unto the flesh. Grant that the lives of those that lie in Flanders and their spirits may indeed summon us on to greater and to better things, and may the wounded and battered bodies of our heroes who have come back continually remind us of the ideals for which they fought; and so may this State take its proper place in leadership and advance those thoughts and those ideals which are indeed for the great good of mankind. Amen.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 5.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Concurrent Resolution No. 5 and move its adoption.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

A Resolution providing for the appointment by the Governor of a commission to be known as the Food Coal and Marketing Commission to make an inventory of the food products and coal of the Commonwealth to investigate the prices thereof and the manner of their distribution authorizing the Commission to investigate the marketing facilities of such food products and coal with a view to a possible reduction in the prices thereof authorizing the commission to appoint a secretary and stenographers and to fix their salaries empowering the commission to issue subpoenas and fixing the penalty for failure to obey such subpoenas authorizing and empowering the said commission to call upon the Attorney General of the Commonwealth to designate who shall act as its attorney and make a report of its findings and recommendations thereon to the present session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania

Whereas attention has been directed to the high prices of food products and coal prevailing in this Commonwealth with a threatened rise in the price of coal and with no apparent prospects of its early reduction; and

Whereas it is the patriotic duty of our people to direct their efforts toward restoring the cost of living to a normal basis; and

Whereas it is to the interest and welfare of the people of this Commonwealth that the continued high cost of food products and coal be immediately investigated and the causes thereof determined,

Now therefore be it resolved by the House of Representatives (if the Senate concur), That a Commission of nine persons, citizens of this Commonwealth to be known as the Food, Coal and Marketing Commission be appointed by the Governor of this Commonwealth; two of said Commissions shall be members of the present House of Representatives; two shall be members of the present Senate of Pennsylvania, one shall be the Secretary of Agriculture of this Commonwealth, and one shall be a mining expert.

The said Commission shall organize immediately upon its appointment, and elect its officers. The members of the said Commission shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be allowed all actual and necessary expenses in the performance of their duties. The Commission is authorized to appoint a Secretary and one or more stenographers; to fix the salaries of the said appointees, which, together with the expenses of the members of the Commission shall be paid out of the appropriation to be hereafter made for that purpose.

It shall be the duty of the said Commission to make an inventory of all the food products and coal in this Commonwealth and to investigate the prices thereof and the manner of their distribution. It shall have power in any manner in which it may deem advisable to thoroughly investigate the marketing facilities of such food products and coal with a view of obtaining the possible reduction in the prices thereof.

For the purpose of enabling said Commission to carry out the provisions of this act it is authorized to sit in any part of the Commonwealth and shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and other evidence, and for such purposes the Commission may issue subpoenas signed by the President thereof and cause the same to be served in any part of the Commonwealth.

If any witness shall refuse to testify to any fact within his knowledge or to produce any books or papers within his possession or under his control the secretary of the commission shall forthwith report the facts of such refusal to the Court of Common Pleas of the county wherein such witness resides or wherein his or her attendance was required, and all questions arising from such refusal shall at once be heard by said court.

If the court determines that the testimony or other evidence required of such witness is legal and competent then said court shall make an order upon such witness commanding him or her to testify or to produce such books or papers or both as the case may be. If such witness shall thereafter refuse to testify or to produce books or papers as aforesaid then the said court shall have power to order the commitment of such witness to the county jail for contempt.

The Attorney General of the Commonwealth shall be the attorney for the commission and shall advise the commission upon request of any member thereof.

The said Commission shall make a report of its findings and recommendations thereon to the present session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as this matter of the investigation of the fuel question is a matter which the Governor himself has had under consideration, I do not think it would be just the proper time to pass this resolution. While this resolution calls for a commission to investigate "food, coal and marketing: to make an inventory of food products and the coal of the Commonwealth; to investigate the prices thereof and the manner of their distribution; authorizing the commission to investigate," and so on, I do not see any appropriation that this commission might be able to use in doing its work; and, therefore, I think this resolution should either remain where it is or be referred to some committee in order that it may go along with the Governor's wishes on this coal investigation. Before I make a motion, I would like to have its sponsor just explain to the House the real purpose for this investigation.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I think I can be very brief in explaining the purpose of this resolution. The purpose of this resolution is to see whether it is possible to obtain food and coal in this Commonwealth at lower prices than what is being paid for them now. I introduced a bill of this nature January twenty-ninth and the matter was referred to a committee. About three weeks ago I had an interview with the Governor of this Commonwealth, explained to him what I was after, showed him a draft of what was contemplated, and he told me then that he was perfectly satisfied to go along with it. After I drafted this resolution and after it had been placed on the calendar, I consulted the Attorney General of this Commonwealth and he read the resolution and he could see nothing in the resolution which would be harmful. As a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, he made several suggestions to me with reference to the attorney for the commission, and it was only last week that I offered an amendment in conformity with the suggestion made by the Attorney General.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, if we want a reduction in the price that is being paid for coal now, the only way we will be able to accomplish that is by investigating. We, in Philadelphia, and some of you men in other parts of the State, have been paying $11.50 a ton for coal, whereas, as a matter of fact all you should have paid is about $8.50 to $9.00 a ton. I do not say that the fault is with the operator, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. The fault is not with the miner. I don't think that this would hurt either. But somebody has been robbing the public, and we want to find out who has been robbing them. The same thing, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, applies to your food products. The only interest I have in this, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, is the public's interest. I think that this resolution has been here long enough, and I think we ought to act on it tonight; either vote for this resolution or vote against it, but don't send it to any committee, there to die. And then everyone in the House will agree with me that something must be done, and I think this is the proper way to do it. I sincerely hope that everyone in this House will vote for the passage of this bill.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, in this resolution I see that "the said commission shall organize immediately upon its appointment and elect its officers. The members of the said commission shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be allowed all actual and necessary expenses in the performance of their duties. The commission is authorized to appoint a secretary and one or more stenographers; to fix the salaries of the said appointees, which together with the expense of the members of the commission shall be paid out of the appropriation to be hereafter made for that purpose."

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the appropriation ought to be along with the resolution. It does not seem complete. There ought to be an appropriation here so that we will know what amount of money is going to be used by this commission now when we are passing it. I am not opposed to the State of Pennsylvania finding out the price of coal through a commission nor the price of food through a commission, but I don't think that resolution is just in the proper form, and I hope the House will not pass a resolution authorizing a commission to appoint stenographers and clerks and fix their salaries upon an appropriation to be made after the commission is appointed. If we are going to make a commission, let us give them the amount of money they are going to spend when we make the commission. That seems proper to me, and that is the only way I think to do it. And furthermore, in regard to that interview with the Governor, who has initiated himself a coal investigation, I think if he wants a commission, it seems to me that he would ask the House to appoint it, notwithstanding the interview of the gentleman from Philadelphia with him. The Governor has not come in, and I think, Mr. Speaker, that that appropriation ought to be embodied in the resolution or else this House ought to vote it down.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, it is my purpose to introduce a bill in the nature of an appropriation bill later on. It was my purpose that if that appropriation was not made that we could raise the money by popular subscription to pay the expenses of this commission. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the people of this Commonwealth are entitled to know why they are paying the prices that they are.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, as I recall it, four years ago a commission was appointed to ascertain the reason for the increase in the price of anthracite coal. That bill carried with it an appropriation of a number of thousands of dollars. All that money was spent. They make a voluminous report, but they did not succeed in finding out the reason for the advance in the price of coal. Taking that into consideration, I do not believe that this bill will accomplish the purpose that the sponsor hopes that it will.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

ADDRESS BY AUDITOR GENERAL SNYDER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will, at this time, ask Auditor General Snyder to address the House on a matter of importance.

AUDITOR GENERAL SNYDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I want to say that the fiscal officer of the Commonwealth very much appreciates this courtesy on the part of the House, and that position means, as you all know, the Auditor General of the State of Pennsylvania,

There has been a bill introduced, of which you no doubt all have knowledge, House Bill No. 741, which gives to the Auditor General more comprehensive powers concerning the revenues of the Commonwealth. I want to say to you this evening, gentlemen, that the chief business of the Legislature is to provide appropriations. We will have forty-five or fifty every session providing appropriations and powers to the different departments of the Commonwealth. This year you will be called upon to vote more money to the Commonwealth for three causes: First, because there is the feeling that because we have more money we will need more money for our institutions which desire help and which require more money. Second, because we have more money we will be called upon to appropriate more money. Third, the State Treasurer and the Auditor General are compelled to have that authority to collect that money for the Commonwealth. In order to collect this money we must have some authority. In order to have that authority we must have it imposed upon us by you members of the Legislature. I submit that I am unable to exercise that authority unless the authority is given to me by you to exercise it.

There is considerable confusion and considerable criticism of that law. Now the bill that is before the House imposes upon the fiscal officers the collection of the inheritance tax. This tax was imposed upon the authorities of the Commonwealth by the last Legislature. In order to collect this inheritance tax it is necessary for the fiscal officers to notify the registers of each county of the number of deaths occurring in the last thirty or sixty days. The number of deaths in the Commonwealth amounted to one hundred and thirty to one hundred and forty thousand, but on account of the epidemic last year, there were considerably more. Therefore the fiscal officers of the State were compelled to send to the registers cards covering the number of deaths occurring in all counties. The opposition to this bill is that it imposes this duty upon the fiscal officers as well as upon the registers of the county. Another objection is that it takes away from the register his commission, and will reduce his income, which will then go to the fiscal officers. In every county, or in any county, in which the deaths have been below nine hundred per annum, the Auditor General and State Treasurer have said to that register "We will give you one dollar, a fair fee for the return or report upon the deaths sent to you." That is, if the register receives nine hundred cards and reports upon nine hundred deaths, he is allowed to report on that number of deaths. That is, whether there is an estate or whether there is no estate. This is nowise interferences with the commission of the register. He received the same commission as if he had no clerk. He has the same power to appoint for every estate an appraiser, an ordinary appraiser. He has the same power in the estate, and if they appoint expert appraisers there is no interference on the part of the fiscal officers of the State, except to approve his appointments. The law, however, provides that if the register or the Auditor General makes the appointment of a special appraiser, that appointment shall stand; however, with the approval of the Auditor General. In these two years, I submit to the House, that at no time have any of the fiscal officers tried to impose upon the registers in the appointment of their expert appraisers, except that which he himself desires. Therefore, in the operation of this law, he receives one dollar for reporting on the deaths, and he receives his commissions, whether for collateral or for direct, and he has the power to appoint or to keep that money himself.

Now then, as I said, there are twenty-eight counties in which the deaths have been below nine hundred, and out of these twenty-eight there are twelve counties that have not reported a death to the State, although in the county of Armstrong, where in seventeen months, there were 1,380 deaths, the register has so far refused to make any return; so that he has collected $417.14 of direct inheritance commissions from those deaths. And yet the Auditor General and State Treasurer hardly know which one he has collected money from, because he has kept the commissions. In the county of Beaver, where there were 2,100 deaths in seventeen months—and all these cards have been sent to the registers of these counties—the register of that county has so far refused to report upon any deaths; so that he received in direct inheritance commission $1,345 and in collateral inheritance tax $1,208. In one year the register of Beaver County received $2,300 in commissions for his work.

Now then, I will say to you, gentlemen, upon the estates that pay he is required to do more work than on the smaller estates. In Crawford County, in Elk County, in Huntingdon County, in Juniata County, and, I regret I must say the County of Lancaster, probably the richest county in the State—I am sorry there were so many deaths in that county —there were reported 3,711 deaths, and the register in that county has collected on direct inheritance taxes $3,506 and on collateral inheritance taxes $3,027 in one year. The register in the county of Lancaster has collected this in commissions besides all his other fees or salary, yet out of the thirty-seven hundred deaths in seventeen months — and that commission is only what he received in seventeen months — the register has up to date refused to make a report. However, last week, when he wrote in for the appointment of a clerk, we confirmed that clerk without reservation.

The County of Mifflin reports 1,731 deaths. The county of Montour reports 247 deaths. Susquehanna County reports 311 deaths. Clearfield County had 1,614 deaths and reported 34. Schuylkill County the same way and all these counties have been on about the same basis. I say to you gentlemen, that if the fiscal officers of the State are to collect the money, it is for you to secure proper appropriations and if you desire to appropriate money and have the fiscal officers of the State collect that money you must give the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth the authority so that they can collect this money. Whether the tax is just or unjust, we are not here to argue, but the law imposes the duty upon its fiscal officers to collect this money and it imposes the duty upon us to see that the money is put into the hands of the State Treasurer. It imposes the further duty upon the officers to see that the money is paid in. But the Auditor General has no power to go into the register's office of any county to make any examination or to investigate unless the register permits him to do so. Take in the County of Sullivan, the deaths there amounted to 321, the reports from Sullivan County have been 111, and the register absolutely refuses to make any answer to it. Of course the Auditor General and the Treasurer are not bound to go there to get that money, as it would cost money to do that and so far we have refused to go to these places. It is impossible to make a report unless the fiscal officers of the State have the right and power to collect this money. It is necessary to appoint some man or a number of men to go to these places and to the register and make an examination and investigation to collect as there is no other possible way for the officers of the State to find out unless he goes to the register's office. It is not the duty of the fiscal officers of the State to indict every register or any register in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There are sixty-seven registers in the State of Pennsylvania, and they are pretty well paid.

The average commission that is paid upon the collection of State taxes, that is, the collateral and direct inheritance taxes to the sixty-seven registers, outside of their salaries, amounts to $3,300 per year for each register. Of course in several counties, like Philadelphia, where the register gets $54,000 for twelve months' work, in the commissions which he collects on taxes for the State. I am not saying anything to discredit those officers, but in the city of Philadelphia in this past year there were thirty-four thousand deaths and the report from there is two thousand, two hundred and twenty-one in seven months, while the reports have been thirty-four thousand; and when we asked the register to hustle up down there, he would say, "It is my district, and I am doing this in my own way." I am not complaining about this, but referring to Allgeheny County, it is about the same in proportion, 13,000. In this county the register receives from $34,000 to $35,000 a year in addition to the salary. It does seem to me that if these registers were required to make their returns, it would result in much more money being paid to the State of Pennsylvania and there would be a much larger return. Therefore, I ask every member to consider whether it is not his duty to help the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth to collect this money, all this money that possibly can be collected under the law, and collect it without oppression and without irritation and collect it without any exposition in the courts with this or that register in a sensible, sane, businesslike way, and help the officers of the State to get the money into the treasury and so that when we come here at the proper time that you have all the money that is due it from the activities of the State. It is a grave question, and whether John Smith or John Brown shall collect this money or appoint these officers; whether they shall be appointed by the Auditor Generals or the State Treasurers at present in office or those that may come in office in the future, as Auditor Generals and State Treasurers come and go like the seasons. Next year it may be some fellow who is new to it, but I want to say that, as the Auditor General of this term, here at this time I will ask the Legislature to give me authority so that I may collect the money and that will give the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth power to say to the registers that they must make their reports. I will again refer to the counties that have been remiss in making reports: Armstrong, Beaver, Crawford, Cumberland, Juniata, Lancaster, Clearfield, Schuylkill, Susquehanna, and several others. Last and not least, the object is that the Auditor General may say: Gentlemen, we want clerks to collect this money, to make investigations and if you do not give us power to appoint the right kind of men to do this work we will ask you gentlemen to appoint them. There has been some argument made that the Auditor General has interjected his own personality into some of the appointments. The Auditor General is just as human as any other Auditor General and there may be some of that sort of appointments, but I submit to you that when this bill comes up, which it possibly will next week, that you take up the matter and talk to your registers and find out whether or not the present officers have done anything in this direction, and if not, that something be done to appoint men to collect this money. My friend, Mr. Hess of Lancaster, stands amazed that such a good chance to fill a vacancy for a clerk has been missed. I do not know why they don't fill these positions. I don't know why registers should not be appointed to do that work. I ask you gentlemen to consider whether or not the Auditor General should not have the power to secure these registers or why they should be refused the power to appoint men to collect this money. I can see no reason why you should not—we will say to you—that you can call up on the telephone and find out if a baby died in the township. It would cost no more than five or ten cents, and while a baby is not supposed to have left an estate, it would not involve much of an expense, as nobody would be interested in that estate, but I do know where an infant has died where the estate counted up into millions of dollars and the register refused to make an investigation or refused to appoint an appraiser, and we had to appoint a lawyer and an expert appraiser, in one particular case, for instance, on which, by the way, the State got $55,000 more taxes through that proceeding. I am asking the members of this House for the proper authority to enforce the provisions of the act of assembly for the collection of these moneys, especially for the enforcement of the Revenue Act of the Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania. In conclusion, I wish to say that the present fiscal officers of this Commonwealth desire to increase the revenues of the treasury, not by oppression or insult, but along sane business lines in order that millions of dollars may be brought into the treasury at the proper time. I ask you gentlemen whether or not you are going to aid the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and consider the appointment of registers in Pennsylvania.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 29, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 631, entitled "An Act to amend section two of the act approved the fifth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws eighty-three), entitled 'An Act to regulate and improve the civil service of the cities of the first class in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; making violation of its provisions to be a misdemeanor, and providing penalties for violations thereof.'"

This mesaure provides for an increase of the salary of the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission of the City of Philadelphia from $3,000 to $5,000. The three Civil Service commissioners now receive an aggregate salary of $11,000; the chairman draws $5,000, and the other two members each $3,000. From all that I can learn, the duties of the office are not unduly onerous, and considering the difficulties which confront Philadelphia's municipal finance I do not consider it wise to place additional burdens upon the taxpayers of the city except in cases where the need or the justice of such increased expenditures are most clearly shown. When the city government has funds to spare for increasing salaries, attention should be given to those essential employes who have to work hard for small wages.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

A motion was made by Mr. Ramsey,

That the question ,together with the further consideration of the communication, be laid upon the table.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, this bill differs from the parole bill considered several days ago, in that it only applies to those prisoners who have been committed to the penitentiaries of our State, and the parole is left primarily, or in the first place, with the officers, already appointed by law for that purpose, namely, the inspectors of the prison or the penitentiary. Under the law as it now stands, there is no provision for parole except this, that the court may grant a maximum and a minimum sentence. Under the old law the prisoner was given the maximum sentence, and then the minimum was one-fourth of that maximum. But the courts and humane organizations of the State, interested in the improvement of prisoners, agreed that that was not a fair proposition, and so it was amended, and it was believed to be wise to leave the question of parole always in the hands of the courts with the result that there are prisoners in the penitentiaries of our State who have sentences like this: not more than twenty years; not less than nineteen years, eleven months and twenty-nine days. In other words, it is only one day of parole. Under the commutation act of 1901, which is still in existance, a prisoner is far better off on the question of good behavior if he is not given an indeterminate sentence at all. If he is given a flat sentence, good behavior will permit him to go free after a certain time. But this act, after an experience from 1911 to the present time, shows that there is still a chance to make out of a prisoner who has proven himself to be corrected—and that is the purpose of imprisonment just the same as we punish our children with the idea of corresting them. So it has been felt humane and right to punish a prisoner, and then if he has proven himself to be ready to return to the bosom of society, he should be paroled.

The parole does not mean release of discharge. It means release outside the penitentiary, but subject to the parole rules, which require that he shall report to the parole officer at least once a month thereafter to the end of his maximum sentence; he shall be required to report monthly to the parole officer, who looks after his needs.

Gentlemen, two years ago the Legislature passed a bill somewhat similar to this one, which the then Governor vetoed on the ground that such a bill would work wrong, because it would permit men convicted of murder and the greater degrees of crime to go free after a lapse of, say, more than one-third of a twenty-year sentence. The Governor in his veto message called attention to that. So this bill has been amended so as to provide for all greater crimes. You will notice on page 3 the bill provides that "murder, administering poison, kidnaping, incest, sodomy, buggery, rape, assault and battery with intent to ravish, arson, robbery or burglary" was not included in the provisions of this act. Therefore, we do not need to consider those maximums; but I want to point out under the Act of 1911, this being an amendment merely to section 6, that act did, even if a man is deemed worthy to be paroled, even if his conduct had been such in the penitentiary that the inspectors, who alone are the real judges of whether or not that man is worthy, if these inspectors believe he is ready to be returned from such slavery—for imprisonment and slavery are coterminus under the Constitution—they recommend him to the Board of Pardons, and then the Board of Pardons acts, and if the Board of Pardons approves, they recommend the parole to the Governor; so that before a man is paroled first the district attorney and the officials are consulted. Then following that the Board of Pardons is compelled to allow any citizen who objects to appear for that purpose. And then, after giving a fair hearing, they refer the matter to the Governor; and anyone who objects may appear before the Governor. So that a citizen has a right to make objection to the parole if he believes the man is not worthy of parole.

Inasmuch as one of the newspapers made reference some days ago to a certain criminal in which I was interested—I do not know who the criminal is and have never even heard his name—I take this opportunity to say that I have no interest whatever in any particular man, and this bill has been drawn absolutely for a single purpose. It is for the pure and sole purpose of reforming a condition which the law undertook to reform in 1911.

Gentlemen, I want to call your attention for a moment to the similarity of this bill with the laws in other places. The United States government has a law like this: every prisoner that is committed to the penitentiary is entitled to parole after serving one-third of his sentence. The great state of Illinois has an act which includes this one-third provision. Therefore, after an examination by and large, I believe that this would make a change in our law which would be beneficial to a man who actually wants to be and is reformed. Furthermore, this act does not provide that the minimum sentence must be one-third of the maximum sentence. It provides that the maximum shall not be greater than one-third. So if the judge finds that the man before him needs a special chance, he may give a minimum sentence of one year and a maximum of twelve years. So when all is said and done, the prison inspectors are, under our law, the judges as to whether that man is worthy. I feel that there is a great deal of merit in the bill, and it does no harm to any person who believes that the law should be stricter than it is. Under our present law a judge has the right to sentence a man who comes before him, so that generally speaking it is possible to pyramid a sentence, so if a man is really to be corrected, he can be given all the years the judge feels he should have. I therefore, respectfully ask that you support the measure.

Shall the bill pass finally?
